

The amendment does not clarify the subject matter of the claims, as the claims still do not recite active steps of the method, which could be performed by a routineer in the art; the steps comprise providing databases by outsourcing companies - these are not the steps which can be practiced by a routineer in the art.